National Walk, Goathland, 23rd September.

Gordon Hodson writes:-

"These National walks, organised by the RCSL are so well organised, and the directions for each walk so detailed, accurate and precise, it is a wonder more retired members do not take part.

162 people took part in this walk of which, from the results table, 5 were retired members. Of these, one did the short (7.5 mile), 2 the medium (12.4mile) and 2 the long (16.5 mile) walks. As usual, there were escape routes from the long and medium walks, including, for this event, the option of taking the North York Moors steam train from Grosmont to Goathland!

The forecast for the day was quite good but the early morning brought overcast skies and steady rain. En route to the venue however the rain stopped and thereafter, during the morning we had but one light shower and the afternoon brought warm sunshine.

Goathland (aka Aidensfield for Heartbeat fans) is located in the North York Moors National Park and surrounded by beautiful moorland scenery, with deep valleys and open heather clad moorland. All the walks started from the village hall: the Long Walk took us through the village before descending a steep path to the West Beck. Walking on a rocky path alongside the beck along took us to the stunning Mallyan Spout before clambering out of the valley and emerging into woodland. Soon we reached and crossed open farmland, before the path climbed steeply to high moorland. During the day the walkers probably saw every type of scenery available in the Park. With the routes not being very far from the railway, an additional delight was the regular sound of the steam locomotives' whistles with the occasional view of a train passing along the valley below and closer views at the Goathland and Grosmont stations.

It was a truly delightful walk for all taking part, and there was much talk at the finish over the odd pint or two."

Barry Atkinson (atko@globalnet.co.uk) writes:-

"I was intrigued to have an email from a Marcus N Griffin, Senior Statutory Funerals Officer, Environmental Services & Highways in the London Borough of Lambeth. Having satisfied myself that this was not some sort of scam, I read with interest Mr. Griffin's note under the heading

Joseph Gattoni (RIP 25 06 11)

"Just to inform you that A Mr Joseph Gattoni who I understand was an administrator with C&E in London for many years until he retired, died in June at his home in Lambeth. His funeral was attended by former colleagues, neighbours and close friends at Streatham Park Cemetery, He had no relatives or family in the UK so Lambeth Council took on the role of arranging his funeral but through Mr Gattoni's foresight to purchase his own grave space and his friends he had a well earned and very dignified send off .As a footnote I arranged the funeral but I refused to let it go and have successfully been able to trace a sole relative in the USA who is coming to see me and the grave next spring "

Joe Gattoni was never a CERRSA member , but Pat Burke, London Area Membership Secretary, says that he knew Joe when he worked in the Forms and Notices Unit, HQ London.I looked up the Local Authority role in the undertaking of welfare funerals. A council has a statutory duty under the provisions of Section 46 of the Public Health (Control of Disease) Act 1984 to undertake the disposal of deceased persons, either by cremation or burial, who die in the local authority area where no other arrangements have been made. Normally, a cremation will be arranged by the council with the cremated remains being subsequently strewn on a lawn of Remembrance Garden unless it is established that the religion of the deceased forbids cremation or the deceased expressed a wish, either verbally or written, to be buried. The Local Authority's appointed funeral director will provide a dignified funeral with a coffin taken to the crematorium or cemetery in a hearse attended by bearers. The council will provide a bouquet of flowers for placing on the coffin. We have thanked Mr Griffin for his follow up action which is clearly over and above his statutory responsibilities and I have said he is free to let Mr Gattoni's relative have my contact details. If anyone else remembers Joe, I will be pleased to pass on details."

Dave Simm (simm362@btinternet.com) writes on Dorset's Autumn Break:-

"All those attending had an enjoyable break at Carbis Bay Hotel, the scenery was stunning, especially the beach and the bay itself. St Ives was within walking distance and there were a wide range of places to visit by bus or train. National Trust properties, Eden Project, Newquay and Lost Gardens of Heligan were just some. We even managed to travel to Truro by local train and main line train, 4 of us return for £11.60, which was quite a bargain. The only downside were a few niggles with the hotel itself, which I won't go into could write a book!"

RCSL Sailing Regatta: 12 - 16 September 2011 John Evans (evansajohn@yahoo.co.uk)

writes:- "This year the Annual Sailing Regatta was hosted by the Royal Southern YC at Hamble on the Solent. Yachts were chartered from Lymington and the plan was to sail the boats to Hamble on Monday. Complete five races during Tuesday to Thursday and return the yachts to Lymington on Friday. I joined my crew, largely from Essex Region and skippered by Mary Fasham (Retired) , on the Sunday evening to take over our yacht, a rather nice 42 foot Jenneau with all mod cons, and plan the week ahead. Forecasts were mixed with light winds towards the end of the week, but what was immediately apparent that our plan to reposition the yachts on Monday was a non-starter. The tail end of Hurricane Katya was about to hit the UK and only the foolhardy would venture out! So Monday became a rather pleasant relaxing day, albeit breezy, enjoying the delights of Lymington but with both feet firmly planted on terra firma. Weather on Tuesday was a significant improvement with blustery winds but the south- westerly direction provided a fast comfortable run to Hamble. Having lost a day's sailing, the race programme was revamped to try to and provide four races across Wednesday and Thursday, rather than the planned five. Wednesday was a much better day with some good wind and excellent sailing conditions allowing two enjoyable races to be completed. Thursday morning broke with glorious wall to wall sunshine, but as forecast on Sunday, not a breathe of air! We all motored to the start line in mid-Solent, anchored and reached for the sun cream. However patience paid off and after four hours a sea breeze finally filled to allow a single race to be completed in challenging conditions with a strong spring tide running. So how did we do? Well enough; of the three races sailed we got two firsts and a second to be the series winner for the Vigilant Cup. Did everything go as we planned? Of course not; and there is always someone with a camera to evidence it when it goes wrong. As the photo shows, flying a spinnaker sideways is not the recommended way.....but amazingly it pulled quite well!!

Next year the Regatta is likely to be held in West Scotland with some glorious views (weather permitting!). We will be back and if any of you are tempted to join us, please get in touch for more details."

Dick Kneill(richardk7@talktalk.net) writes:- “Break Out The Crackers Gromit

We booked into the YHA in Hawes in Wensleydale on a very wet and windy Thursday afternoon/evening back in October. “We” were 60 or so RCSL cyclists of various shapes, sizes, ages and fitness levels with yours truly being the only (as far as I know) RMS wallah. The event to be undertaken on the Friday was the RCSL Road Cycling Championship. This is not a race. It is what is known as an Audax (or Enduro) event. Something like a car rally on a bike. There are prescribed routes which have to be completed by a cut off time - 17.00 hours in our case.

The drive up to Wensleydale was very wet and windy and so I was hoping the forecast of a sunny day for Friday would be correct. It was, but a very strong wind prevailed. I had last stayed in a youth hostel 54 years ago when I was 18 and the last time I had “roomed” with anybody was shortly after that, doing my National Service. But the hostels have come on a bit since those days and I was in with a decent chap from Surrey and we managed to acquire a three berth room for just the two of us.

There were three routes, to choose from plus two novice routes, which remained in the valley. Well, I’m no Bradley Wiggins but do not consider myself a novice, so what were my options. The shortest was 41 miles. At the top of Tan Hill you could opt to go on to do 58 miles, then at Reeth you could opt to do 78 miles. I had already decided against taking the second option, but thought that I would see how I was at The Tan Hill pub with regards to the first option.

So, up early in the morning, get my bike out of the car and fit on the front wheel, little saddlebag and drinks bottle etc. The wind was strong and quite cool, so leg warmers (no, not those ruffled things for aerobics) and gilet were needed. I was one of the West Midlands team but, as they were all younger and fitter and aiming at the 78 mile route, I suggested they head off without waiting for me. I set off at 9 am into the head wind along the A road towards Kendal, which was undulating to say the least. It was a rather tough start, but then we swung right onto a back road to Kirby Stephen, which was more pleasant. It took me half the morning to reach Kirby Stephen but then the route turned east with a tail wind, only for it to be largely cancelled out by the long climb up to the Tan Hill pub – one of the highest in England. It was not continuously up but we had to get to 1600 feet so, I must confess, I had to do a bit of walking at some points. In particular on a 1 in 5 left hand hairpin when I just could not push the pedals one more revolution and just lolloped gracefully onto the grassy bank at the roadside. I decided at that moment that, if the gradient was about to get so steep again, I would dismount whilst I could still extricate my feet from the pedals.

I must say at this stage that, apart from the wind, the weather was sunny and the scenery was stunning. I arrived at the Tan Hill pub after mid-day and checked in with the marshal. It was very tempting to go in the pub for a beer and bacon butty but I thought, in view of what lay ahead, I had best stick with my banana, brunch bar and energy drink. Here, I had to decide whether to head straight back to Hawes for the 41 mile route, or go on to Reeth for the 58 miler. To go straight back there was some decent downhill, but, then across the valley another 1500 feet climb over Butter Tubs before dropping down into Hawes. To take the longer route I would still have to negotiate Butter Tubs. I decided that discretion was the better part of valour and headed straight back to Hawes. Needless to say I did a fair bit of walking up Butter Tubs – as did most others, I may add. The main hazard on the return run was the side wind and the steep drops and tight bends. It took almost three days for my hands to recover from gripping the brakes. (How do those Tour de France guys hurtle down mountain roads?)

I arrived back at the Hawes YHA at around 3 pm (having stopped to help a young guy on a mountain bike fix his chain which had jammed) and awaited the return of the long distance chaps. The West Midlands team had finished in third place and I was pleasantly surprised to find that there were 4 team medals. So, due to the endeavours of my younger team mates I collected a bronze medal.

Dinner at the hostel followed and then down to the village for a couple of beers. We were lucky with the weather window, as Saturday dawned grey, damp and misty. Ingleborough was shrouded in low cloud and my scenic drive home was not quite so scenic. But before I left Hawes, I went down to the Wensleydale cheese emporium to get some of the genuine stuff. So – break out the crackers Gromit!”

Post Note. Next year’s event is on 6 October 2012 at Salisbury. Therefore, it should not be as mountainous as this one. So, come on you cycling pensioners – give it a go.

Carol Ross (Nee Satchel) (carol\_ross12345@yahoo.com) writes:-

"I would like to thank The Bond and its editor for helping me to meet my Great Uncle for the very first time. I have been compiling a book of my family tree and about three years ago I contacted a cousin in Australia who I had not been in contact with for over 50 years. She kindly emailed me story's of my family, one of which was an Uncle of her mothers (and my father) who was not much older then them and whom her mother had kept in touch with until she passed away. This Uncle was apparently a professional table tennis player and had played in tournaments in Japan. At the time of receiving this email I had done a search on the internet but never found anything in regards to a table tennis player by the name of Richard Satchel. About a month ago I thought I would try to do a search again and amongst a large list that came up was an item written in The Bond's April 2010 issue which caught my eye. The article was by a Dick Satchel reminiscing of his time in the post office, customs, air force and also playing table tennis. He mentioned playing in the veteran tournament in Japan but which he had eventually had to give up at the age of 87. Could this have been written by my distant relation???? I contacted the editor of the magazine, explained who I was and that I was trying to write about my family history. I had given him a few bits of information and asked if it was possible to put me in touch either with this gentleman or his family. With a promise to see what he could do, within a day he came back to me with a contact number and said the gentleman was happy for him to pass it onto me. After waiting nervously for a couple of days I plucked up the courage to call. Within a short time it was established that he was my Great Uncle, being brother to my Grandfather on my father's side. We arranged to meet up not long after his 95th birthday. My mother and I visited Richard and his wife Alice for the day. We found them a lovely couple and exchanged many stories and reminiscences and left with the promise of keeping in touch. Thank you so much for giving me the opportunity to meet such a wonderful gentleman."

Congratulations Mary Sports- woman of the year 2010.

Neill Bond writes:-

"It is Mary Fasham who was the RMB Sportswoman of the year 2010 receiving her award from Emma Cox the Chair of RCSL South West earlier this year. She won it for her outstanding efforts as Skipper of a boat in the National Sailing Competition."

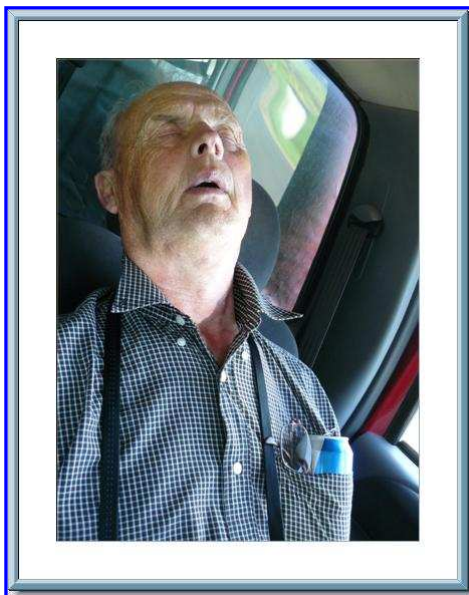

Geoff Beecroft, Gilbert Denton & Brian Conway all submitted Railway photographs and have an interest in them.

Photo Competition

The winner is Terry Marshall ..... whether his example of "Activity in Retirement" is himself I don't know.

Thanks all for the entries . Not many . I hope to use some of them with a few words from the originator in future BONDS see opposite. With only a few entries (9) no competition in this edition.

Liverpool Cerrsa Autumn Break Windermere Hydro Oct /Nov 2011

Rob Powell (robert.powell@talktalk.net) writes:-

"Seven members arrived on Sunday followed by a further ten on Monday. We all enjoyed the good food and accommodation at the Hydro and particular thanks to Bryan and Jean for arranging the chocolate bar quiz which was quite a brain teaser.

Monday 31st October

Monday 31 Oct. (5.5 miles). Five walkers braved the elements and walked along Windermere lake shore, over Queen Adelaide's View and over Orrest head prior to lunch in the Queens Hotel in Windermere. Rain set in for the return leg through the park and the bedraggled group retired to the Hole Int Wall pub in Bowness after returning to the Hydro.

Tuesday 1 Nov. (5.5 Miles). Seven Walkers enjoyed a circular walk of the Troutbeck valley from the Visitor Centre in Brockhole. The weather was bright and sunny and a coffee stop at Troutbeck Post Office was livened up by a herd of sheep being driven a high speed through the lane in front!

Lunch was enjoyed at The Mortal Man Pub where we were joined by two non-walkers. We returned via field tracks past the church, along the valley bottom crossing Troutbeck, returning along Wain Lane to Brock Hole.

Wednesday 2 Nov. (5 miles). Nine walkers set off from Elterwater along the flat riverside path to Skelwith Bridge where three walkers looped back over the bridge to return on a short route. The remainder went via field and woodland tracks to Colwith Force on the River Brathay, down through the valley bottom to Little Langdale and up through farms and rough pasture land, returning to Elterwater down a rocky quarry road. We all retired to the convivial atmosphere of the Britannia Inn for coffee before driving back to Bowness.

Tuesday 1st November

Non walkers enjoyed a variety of trips out by car, steamer and shopping in Ambleside, Windermere and Bowness. Some toured the South Lakes as far as Piel Island and the Buddhist Temple at Connishead Priory and others went north to Buttermere and Borrowdale.

Thank you all for such good company and we hope to see you next April at Matlock Bath."

A.E.I.O.U. EXCURSION TO KYLE OF LOCHALSH 28th JUNE 2011

As the train pulls out of Achnasheen station Tony C wonders where he put his glass of Macallan!

Light refreshments, carefully packaged in glass containers, were genteelly partaken of by most for the duration of the journey, though Ian H was too busy chatting up the available talent. We eventually disembarked at Plockton where the long hot walk from the station to the village meant that most of us needed to repair to a local hostelry until it was time to catch the next train. We thought we had lost two of our number but they rolled up in state having coerced a local resident into driving them back up the hill by car (and they were the ones who pretended to be hill walkers!).

Tony Kell (tony.kell@btinternet.com) writes :-

“On one of last summer’s rare days of fine weather a group of nine intrepid ex- Highland UOs embarked on one of their regular rail outings to the wild West Highlands.

The largest group (Tony Whitlock, Tony Collins, Dick Whelan & Alan Clarke) boarded the train at the crack of dawn in Elgin with others joining at Forres (Ian Hay & Alec Vesco), Inverness (Tony Kell & Ian Goodwin) and Muir of Ord (John Breckenridge). Unfortunately, due to a senior moment, one of our number missed the train (for the second time!) - he shall be nameless.

Tony W, John and Ian H taking ‘communion’ in the old open air church at Plockton.

Tony C, Ian G, Ian H, Dick & Tony W frightening the tourists at Kyle.

Back on the train for the short trip to Kyle where a substantial lunch (not all liquid!) was consumed at the Lochalsh Hotel. The rest of the afternoon was spent wandering around the village or sunning ourselves on the shore.

Come teatime it was back to the station for the return trip. Surprisingly, sufficient refreshments had been left from the outward journey to sustain us on the homeward leg which passed with the usual conviviality.

An essential feature of such outings is that we all endeavour to wear our AEIUO ties (Aberdeen Elgin Inverness Unattached Officers). This seems to persuade Scot rail staff that we are upstanding pillars of the community rather than an inebriated rabble of geriatric football fans –at least we haven’t been thrown off the train yet!”

The Annual General Meeting of FOCERRSA

The AGM will be held on Tuesday 24th April @ 1800hrs at New Bath Hotel Matlock Bath the room will be advised on arrival. In accordance with Rule 13 D notice of motions for the AGM and nominations for office shall be submitted in writing to reach the Federation Secretary 28 days before the AGM together with the name of the proposer. Notifications required by Rule 13 C have been sent. Notifications of the Agenda etc required by Rule 13 D will sent W.C 16th April 2012 Paul J Houghton Hon Secretary.

Chairman's Report to the 2012 AGM.

Until recently we FoCERRSA had a contact in HMRC at the Treasury. It was by contacting him that I could deal with the appropriate person in the Department when we had a problem, e.g. the printing of the Bond. However, our contact has retired and I am currently trying to find a new one, preferably in the Treasury and with some rank and pull. I hope it will not be like having a dialogue with the dead, but to date I have had no replies to my e mails. We must also be conscious of the fact that the culture of the Department is now very Revenue orientated, unlike when we were first formed and C&E was a separate Department. Further they must be under severe cash constraints with the Governments deficit reduction programme. I shall report further at the AGM.

Our Reunion at Great Yarmouth was a great success, the Hotel service and food were very good and the weather was very kind to us. Matlock Spa in 2012 augers well as we have filled the Hotel and this is I think our first inland Reunion. The location is of importance being more central than all of those in the past, making travel whether by car or train easier. For 2013 Norman Shackley and Heathrow have taken on the organisation of the Reunion and Norman will be telling us the location at the AGM if not before. Peter Trevett Chairman

Secretary's Report to the 2012 AGM

Communications

The July BOND carried reports of the Great Yarmouth Reunion and minutes of the Focerrsa AGM. Significant activity has been relayed to the CERRSA reps and others by e-mail. The Web pages have been changed as reported in the October BOND and are now at <http://www.focerrsa.blogspot.com/> with pages for each CERRSA and the RMS. Access to the site has been good with the stats to some pages into 4 figures.... notably the Home page /Liverpool / RMS. The RMS now has its own web pages, which RMS members can access if they apply to the Secretary Ted Wingrove ( ted.wingrove@ntlworld.com ).

Correspondence / Committee Meetings.

No significant items. Routine correspondence has been dealt with on receipt. The Officers have been consulted but no meetings required. Our thanks are due to the Department for its continued support and particularly to the London Repro Unit and Zila Siddiqui at NDSC for printing and distribution services and updating the circulation lists. On a personal front, in view of my Editorship of THE BOND, if nominated for 2011/12 I will stand for re-election. Paul J Houghton

Treasurer's Report & Annual Accounts 2010/2011

These are my second set of Annual Accounts and once more I am pleased to report a good improvement in the overall financial position.

Income

This was slightly down due to revenue from Advertising disappearing and there being a smaller surplus on the Reunion( however it is not supposed to make a profit). There were also no arrears to collect due to the efficiency of all the Regional Treasurers to whom I must give thanks.

Expenditure

A trimming of most of the expenditure has continued and with Paul's new Blog, Web costs have become a thing of the past. The one additional expense shown is in fact a cost saving exercise as the squiggle pens for Matlock have been purchased already at an advantageous price.

There is therefore a surplus of Income over Expenditure of £198.91

Affiliation Fees

There was some discussion last year with regards to the possibility of a sliding scale depending on membership numbers. This will be discussed at the committee Meeting prior to the AGM and the decision put to the members.

Could I ask all branch secretaries to notify me of any changes of Treasurer and /or their addresses as soon as this occurs.

Finally can I thank Les Ashplant again for his auditing of the accounts and a special thanks to Dave Simm who stepped into the breach due to Peter Bown being indisposed.
